Martha's Heart Sank.

Martha had little difficulty in "look ing up" the catalogue, as the house seemed full of them, and after critically examining the suit pictures a simple blue took her fancy. The description corresponded with her idea of what she wanted; the trimming looked neat and of good quality. The price was satisfactory, so after debating for some littie time she decided to send for it. A draft was forwarded, and the long vigit pending the arrival of the suit was as depressing upon John as upon Martha.

At last it came-express bill and all

-and eagerly the box was opened and the suit laid on the bed for inspection.

It did not quite measure up to the proportions of the picture in the cata logue. The color was not good. There was too much coat and not enough skirt, and, besides, the skirt was not draped as the advertisement said. It just hung, and hung uneven at that.

The work was not neat; the trimming was of cheap, showy quality, scant and inferior. Martha's heart sank to zero. She knew she would be ashemed to wear that suit at home, much less among her well dressed friends.

What was she to do? She needed a suit badly, but she realized that to attempt an exchange would result as disastrously as in the first place, and
